

Medicines are the result of broad collaboration

Drug development is a symbiotic process, in which parties reinforce each other through collaboration

Source: Dutch Association Innovative Medicines